BORAH OF IDAHU

Appomattox Day Celebrated by the Leading Republican Club of Chicago.

FRED GRANT AMONG GUESTS

"INTEGRITY OF STATES" DIS-CUSSED BY THE SENATOR.

Chicago, April 9.-The celebration of Appomattox day by the Hamilton club! the Auditorium Annex tonight was in the Auditorium Annex tonight was made notable by the presence of distinguished speakers, whose addresses were of particular interest. General Fred D. Grant spoke briefly upon some personal recollections of Appomattox, and Secretary of War Dickinson chose as the subject of his remarks "The Progress of Peace." Senator William E. Borah of Idaho spoke on "The Integrity of the States."

speaking on "The Integrity of the States," Senator Boran made a strong appeal in favor of jealous watchfulness to preserve local self-government in its same time emphasize the importance federal power as provided by the con-

"hut the great central and controlling principle of civilization—that is, concentrated and harmonious action among separate states or communities on a large scale without destroying or forfeiting self-government—was to them unknown. The representative principle, that system by which independent cities or states, retaining full and complete control overdomestic affairs, with a central and supreme authority for all matters of common interest, was yet undiscovered. So, amid petty rivalries and constant jeal—ousies; amid strife and conflict and per-petual war, this resplendent political sys-tem perished. There was a fatal defect-a defect which another people was to dis-over and remedy." The Roman Empire.

As the antithesis of this wonderful example of pure democracy, he traced the and development of the Roman empire and the coincident loss of all local government by communities brought under the sway of Rome.

"Instead of expecting to find virtue and repu

"Instead of expecting to find virtue and progress and prosperity among the people worked out through the thrift and industry and energy of the people," he deciared, "they supposed that in some way these things abided in statutes and imperial decrees. They thought that by legislation all things could be cured and that the government must take care of them all. At last this civilization came into conflict with that of the Teutons of the north, a people having among them the germs of local self-government in their tribal rule, a people independent, self-reliant, possessed of courage and initiative. When the conflict came the false and venal splendor of Rome perished." "God pity this government in the hour in which we shall look to Washington for that economy in public expenditures, that comprehension of the common needs, that devotion to the general interests, the power and the willingness to correct abuses and distribute justice, all so essential to a democratic form of government, rather than to enlightened published

New England Town Meeting.

Tracing Angle-Saxon civilization, Mr. Borah declared that the principle of the New England town meeting has seamed our whole civilization with strength and our whole civilization with strength and durability. Without its active presence, its living, pervading force, there could be no such thing as a truly republican government or federal system.

"Our fathers understood this well," said Mr. Borah, "and were wise and cautious in jealously guarding it when they came to frame the federal system. If they were wise to preserve it, their children will be wise to continue to preserve it. It is a remarkably short period from the time when a people cease to be active in the affairs of government until they are incapable of discharging the duties imposed by government, and no people incapable of self-government ever long bred a class of statesmen who were cap-Democracy of Athens.

Describing the pure democracy that existed in Athens, he declared that, although that example of popular government for them from the walks of the ment had continued for less than 100 years, more than 2,600 years have not dimmed to the least the histre of its achievements.

"They understood well the lesson of local self-government," said Mr. Borah. "but the great central and controlling principle of civilization—that is, concentrated and harmonious rotten.

people than the grant. I am well aware that the phrase state rights has been discredited in our history. It is associated with unhappy days. It is a kind of intellectual tramp recognized for the last fifty years mainly at the back door of the American statesman. But the abuse of the term should not blind us to the great and inviolate political truth that upon the integrity of the states after all rests the integrity and permanency of the union, that upon the principle of local self government rests the perpetuity of republican institutions.

Motion to Recommit.

When, by a viva voce vote, the en rossment and third reading of the bil vas ordered, Mr. Lindberg (Minn.) sought recognition to move to recom-mit with instructions. The speaker refused, saying common fairness required that he should recognize Mr. Clark of Missouri, the minority leader, the bill's chief opponent. Mr. Clark thereupo made a motion to recommit with structions. This motion directed the ways and means committee to make the original minimum rates of the bill $5,000 on the death of Taylor, and that apply as maximum rates, and to prothose to be applied as minimum rates
It also provided that the discriminating duty clause levying 10 per cent in crease on goods imported in foreign vessels be reversed so as to provide 10 per cent decrease on goods imported in American vessels.
